

EDUCATION

University of California Santa Barbara

Ph.D. in Geography, Advisor: Leila Carvalho

Santa Barbara, CA

2017–June 2022

- Dissertation: “Dynamics of Atmospheric Rivers in High Mountain Asia: Influences on Precipitation, Lightning and Landslides”

California State University, Los Angeles

M.A. in Geography, GPA: 4.0

Los Angeles, CA

2015–2017

- Thesis: “Atmospheric River Contributions to Extratropical Poleward Moisture Transports and Atmospheric Water Cycle”

University of Colorado Colorado Springs

B.A. in Geography, GPA: 3.8

Colorado Springs, CO

2010–2014

- Emphasis in Geospatial Science with Certification in Geographic Information Systems
- Thesis: “Examining post-fire landscape change using remote sensing”
- UCCS Department of Geography Honors with highest distinction

University of Granada

Study Abroad

Granada, Spain

2011–2012

University of Costa Rica

Study Abroad

San Jose, Costa Rica

2014–2014

EXPERIENCE

Center for Western Weather and Water Extremes

Scripps Institution of Oceanography, University of California San Diego

Postdoctoral Scholar

San Diego, CA

August 2022–present

- Atmospheric Rivers in Southeast Alaska
- National Science Foundation Award: 2052972
- Khutí Project: Understanding Natural Hazards and Supporting Community Response

National Center for Atmospheric Research

Advanced Student Program Colloquium

Boulder, CO

July 2021

- The Science of Seasonal to Subseasonal Predictions
- Group Leads: Aneesh Subramanian and Mike DeFlorio
- Used python to perform S2S hindcast evaluation on Atmospheric Rivers in Western US

Jet Propulsion Laboratory

Intern Earth Sciences Division

Pasadena, CA

October 2015 –September 2017

- Regional Climate Model Evaluation Systems
- Mentor: Duane Waliser
- Used python to help implement software for comparing regional climate models
- Maintained the website with HTML and CSS (rcmes.jpl.nasa.gov)

California State University Los Angeles

Graduate Assistant Geosciences Lab

Los Angeles, CA
October 2015 –June 2016

- Assisted students with GIS needs

University of Colorado

Research Assistant Department of Geography

Colorado Springs, CO
September 2014 –January 2015

- Post-fire vegetation regrowth
- Performed geospatial analysis with remote sensing imagery
- Experience in python and IDRISI

Colorado Springs Fire Department

GIS Technician Division of the Fire Marshal

Colorado Springs, CO
July 2013 –January 2014

- Created maps and surveyed wildfire mitigation project areas
- Collected weekly fuels samples to measure fire risk
- Created and maintained web map for Wildland Urban Interface

City of Colorado Springs

GIS Technician Information Technology

Colorado Springs, CO
January 2014 –June 2014

- Developed maps for different city divisions
- Worked in a versioned geodatabase environment
- Experience in python, geocoding, topology editing, linear referencing, and other geoprocessing tools
